Option 3 is much like our physical language schools. What you get is a full-time teaching offer that matches classroom teaching - only it's individual, independent of time and place, and online. You will get new assignments each week and there are web conferences at specific times with teachers and other students at the same level. The teaching leads up to current ministerial tests and exams. Beginner levels (modules 1 and 2) are 5 or 10 lessons per week. Intermediate and advanced levels (modules 3-6) are 3 or 6 lessons per week.

When you have arrived in Denmark, you can proceed from your obtained Danish level with a reference from the municipality and either continue in Netdansk or join a class at the language school on campus.

The Netdansk course is based on texts, news, music, articles, web, grammar, YouTube and more.

Price: DKK 1,500
per lesson per student
